PREFATORY NOTE

The General Assembly made an appropriation for a Legislative Manual for the year 1909. It is difficult to decide how much material about the State in general should go into this manual. The attempt has been made to compile what more intimately concerns the Legislature, though even this must be somewhat arbitrary. A great deal is duplicated in other reports. A publication containing all legislative, state and county officials and figures would make a very bulky volume and therefore has been avoided. It is the expectation that the present volume will be profitable to legislators, state officers, newspapers and the general public.

The material in this compilation has been prepared by Harriet J. Dedson.

DEMARCHIUS C. BROWN,
State Librarian.

THOMAS R. MARSHALL was born in North Manchester, Wabash County, Indiana, on the fourteenth day of March, eighteen hundred fifty-four; graduated at Wabash College in eighteen hundred seventy-three, was admitted to the bar on his twenty-first birthday, practiced law in Columbia City from that time continuously until his election as Governor of Indiana.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM

Adopted by the Democratic State Convention, March 26, 1908.

BRYAN.

The Democracy enters the presidential campaign with a leader already chosen, called to command when but a young man. Combatted in two successive campaigns by the unreasoning assaults of his adversaries and a debauched suffrage corrupted by contributions made by predatory wealth, this great leader, by force of his splendid intellect, his noble manhood, his matchless eloquence, his purity of life, has not only become easily the greatest private citizen in the republic, but an absolute moral force in the world. In honoring him, the Democracy of Indiana honors itself. The Democracy of the United States with one accord delivers its banner to Nebraska's gifted son, the Hon. William J. Bryan.

The condition of our country and the remedies to be applied, require that there should be placed at the head of our Government a man whose sympathies are with the masses and the promptings of whose heart beat responsive to the good of the people, and whose honor, integrity or capacity cannot be questioned. The man of the hour is America's foremost citizen, William Jennings Bryan, and we hereby indorse him for the presidency of the United States, and instruct our delegates to the national convention to cast the vote of Indiana for his nomination.

CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENT.

The Democracy of Indiana in convention assembled renews its allegiance to the principle of constitutional government through laws enacted and executed in the interest of the whole people without favor to individual or class. It pledges itself when returned to power to correct the evils that have grown out of Republican official shortcomings, to an economical administration of public affairs and to a consistent enforcement of the laws relating to the public welfare.

TRUSTS.

For nearly twelve years the Republican party has been in absolute control of all departments of the national government, with power to change unjust conditions and to rectify evil. Yet during that time colossal combinations of capital have dominated the people and illegal perversions of corporate laws have stifled competition and unfairly limited the opportunities of the individual citizen. Wealth thereby illegally obtained has been unsparingly used to control legislation and corrupt the elections. No honest effort has been made or is being made by Republican legislation to cure or eradicate these evils. We denounce the hypocrisy of the Republican party, which, while pretending to legislate against these conditions, deals only with the symptom and not the disease.

TARIFF.

The unfair features of the so-called protective tariff have made these things possible, and no permanent relief can be secured until the obnoxious features are removed. We therefore demand that the tariff be immediately revised and that the tariff shall be for revenue only. Articles entering into competition with articles controlled by trusts should be placed upon the free list. Material reductions should be made in the tariff upon the necessaries of life and reductions should be made in such other schedules as may be necessary to restore the tariff to a revenue basis.

RESTRICTIVE LAWS.

The growth of the trusts and other inordinate and dangerous combinations of capital, the tremendous and rapidly-increasing absorption and centralization of the wealth of the country in the hands of a chosen few, all due to premeditated and systematic legislation in behalf of special interests by the Republican party, demand a change in the policies imposed upon the country by that party and make the passage of restrictive laws an imperative necessity.

LABOR AND CAPITAL.

Democracy is a conservator of property. It defies alike both paternalism and communism. Its theory of government is that government is best which governs least. It is the friend of both labor and capital. It adds to the rewards of human endeavor by giving equal opportunities to all and special privileges to none. Democracy fixes no limits to honest accumulations of capital, but it denies that wealth and cunning, leagued together, may lawfully concentrate into a few hands the fruits of the productive energy of the world.

DANGERS TO THE REPUBLIC.

We assail the Republican party as false teachers of the theory of government. The genius of Jefferson added to the domain of the republic an empire of wide extent and surpassing fertility, the expanding development of which made the Nation prosperous for more than a hundred years; the results of the unfolding of these States thus added was to pour a stream of wealth into the lap of the republic, yielding an unexampled prosperity. Republicans claim these treasures as the result of a system of protection to American industry. Special interests that enjoyed the subsidies yielded by the tariff have realized immeasurable fortunes. Today industrial Caesars contend for the mastery of the republic or partition the people of the States among mighty rivals for separate plunder.

IMPERIALISM.

Democracy believes that this is a government of the people, by the people and for the people. It believes that the Constitutional limitations of the government and of its respective departments should be continually observed by those who are temporarily the guardians of the public weal. We charge that the Republican party is centralizing all the powers of Government at Washington and by its flagrant disregard of constitutional limitations is threatening to subvert the republic into an imperial democracy.

INCOME TAX.

We favor an income tax as part of our revenue system, and we urge the submission of a constitutional amendment specifically authorizing Congress to levy and collect a tax upon individual and corporate incomes, to the end that wealth may bear its proportionate share of the burdens of supporting the Federal Government.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANK.

We favor the postal savings bank, and in addition thereto insist upon the passage of laws, state and national, for the better regulation of banks and for the protection of bank deposits.

PUBLIC DEPOSITS.

We demand, further, that favoritism in the deposit of treasury funds shall be abolished, and that surplus revenues shall be deposited at competitive rates upon sufficient security and fairly distributed throughout the country.

ELECTION OF SENATORS.

We favor the election of United States Senators by a direct vote of the people.

PANAMA CANAL.

We believe the Panama Canal will prove of great value to our country and favor its speedy completion.

WATERWAYS.

We urge liberal appropriations for the improvement and development of the interior waterways, believing that such expenditures will return a large dividend in lessened cost of transportation.

FINANCE.

We oppose both the Aldrich bill and the Fowler bill, and believe that, in so far as the needs of commerce require an emergency currency, such currency should be issued and controlled by the Federal Government, and that it should be loaned upon adequate security, and at a rate of interest which will compel its retirement when the emergency is passed.

CAPITAL AND LABOR.

We believe in the conciliation of capital and labor, and favor every legitimate means for the adjustment of disputes between corporate employers and their employes, to the end that justice may be done to those who toil, and that society may be relieved from the embarrassment occasioned by prolonged strikes and lockouts.

SHIP SUBSIDY.

We are unalterably opposed to the national Congress adopting the present ship subsidy bill.

INJUNCTIONS.

We are opposed to the indiscriminate use of the power of injunction by the Federal courts without notice to defendants and without a hearing, and we demand that the right of a trial by jury in proceedings arising out of indirect contempt of such injunctions shall not be denied to a defendant in such cases.

PRESIDENTIAL DICTATION.

We disapprove of the efforts of the President of the United States to dictate the nomination of his successor, whether by the use of patronage or by other means, as dangerous to our form of government.

EXTRAVAGANCE.

Some few years ago the country was shocked by the expenditures of Speaker Reed's billion-dollar Congress, appropriating $1,000,000,000 of the people's money, yet the last Republican Congress expended nearly $2,000,000,000; and we condemn the profligate waste of the people's money, and demand that no more be expended than is necessary to properly conduct the affairs of the government economically administered.

WALL STREET AND PANIC.

The present financial stringency furnishes additional proof that the Republican leaders are either unwilling or incompetent to protect the interests of the general public. They have so linked us to Wall street that the sins of the speculators are visited upon the entire country. The old fallacy that a panic was impossible under a high protective tariff and a Republican administration has now been fully exploded. We call the attention of the people to the fact that every financial panic in this country since the Civil War has been the product of Republican legislation, and we regret the Republican mismanagement that has once more in time of profound peace, and with every natural reason for prosperity, plunged the nation into the evils of financial stringency and industrial depression. Thousands of men in all lines of human activity have been thrown out of employment, wages have been reduced and the comforts of the family have been affected.

BONDS IN TIME OF PEACE.

We condemn the act of the Secretary of the Treasury in selling interest-bearing bonds in a time of peace and for depositing most of the proceeds of such sales in the banks of New York that were largely responsible for the financial troubles. Burdened by these unjust extortions and unreasonable exactions, the commercial energies of the country were exhausted, and in the midst of a period of apparent prosperity the business of the nation was seized with commercial paralysis, banks were afraid to meet their obligations, railroads passed into the hands of receivers, industries were crippled, labor could not obtain employment and the government itself was forced to the rescue of Wall Street by depositing for its benefit money received from bonds sold in time of peace.

PURE FOOD.

We cordially favor all legislation tending to safeguard the interests of the people in the matter of pure food and drugs.

USELESS OFFICES.

We are opposed to the creating by Republican legislatures of numerous useless offices, boards and commissions, with large salaries, and we propose to abolish all such offices, boards and commissions when in power.

WEEKLY PAY DAY.

We favor the amendment to the law regulating the payment of employes of manufacturing and mining companies so as to provide for a weekly payment of wages due such employes, instead of payments each two weeks, as now provided.

HONESTY IN PUBLIC OFFICE.

We believe in an honest and economical administration of the governmental affairs, and that the national, state, county and municipal governments should administer their affairs honestly and economically so as to make these expenses the least possible burden on the people.

SAFEGUARDING BANK DEPOSITS.

We advocate the enactment of a law guaranteeing to depositors the immediate payment of their deposits in any bank or trust company of this State, operating under the banking laws of this State, in case of the failure of any such bank or trust company, the funds necessary for such purpose to be provided solely by a tax to be imposed upon such banks and trust companies; and we further demand that in administering banking laws in Indiana none but competent and qualified examiners and officials be selected.

STATE OFFICIAL INIQUITY.

During the twelve years that the Republican party has been in power in this State, it has, through the adroit manipulation of a selfish and mercenary political machine, persistently disregarded its duties and abused its stewardship. Private interests have been put above the public weal. Unparalleled extravagance in public expenditures has become a settled practice, and the burden of unjust taxes laid upon the people has grown heavier each year. At every session of the General Assembly appropriations have been made out of all proportion to expected or possible benefits. Needless offices have been created and official salaries have been enormously increased for the benefit of favored individuals and not for the betterment of the public service. Fiscal mismanagement, executive incompetency, legislative spoliation and blundering and administrative extravagance and rascality have combined to bring the affairs of the State to a condition of official iniquity that is intolerable, and which demands immediate amendment in the interest of good government and sound morals.

TEMPERANCE.

The Democratic party has always advocated the largest measure of liberty to the individual citizen consistent with the public good. It still recognizes that principle, and believes in the old Democratic principle of local self-government. We recognize the right of the people to settle the question as to whether intoxicating liquors shall be sold in their respective communities, and to that end we favor the enactment of a local option law under which the people of the city wards or townships shall have the right to determine whether the sale of such liquors shall be licensed in their respective wards or townships for the two years ensuing by vote at a special election; but we declare that such law shall be supplementary to the laws now in force relating to remonstrances against the granting of such license.

CO-EMPLOYES' LAW.

In view of the fact that the co-employes' liability law of this State has been in part held unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of the State and rendered ineffective by construction to cover the purpose intended by its enactment, we favor such further legislation as will justly and adequately protect labor. Differences between capital and labor, when not adjusted by mutual agreement of the interested parties, should be by statute submitted to a board of arbitrators, with power to enforce its findings.

PRIMARY ELECTION LAW.

We pledge the Democratic members of the Legislature to support a general primary election law applicable to the selection of all candidates, both State and local, and to the selection of delegates to all conventions.

RULES OF PROCEDURE.

We direct the State central committee to adopt rules of procedure governing the selection of delegates until the same is regulated by statute; and to at the same time adopt rules of procedure in case of contest and methods of hearing and finally deciding same.

MINE INSPECTOR.

We favor the enactment of a law under which the state inspector of mines shall be appointed by the Governor on the recommendation of the joint conference between operators and miners each year.

HOME RULE.

We favor home rule and the repeal of the metropolitan police law.

KERN FOR VICE-PRESIDENT.

The Indiana Democracy, having a justifiable faith in the high character, the proved ability, the distinguished party service, and the aggressive patriotism of our beloved fellow-citizen, John W. Kern, do hereby commend him to the Democracy of the nation as a most fit and desirable nominee for the Vice Presidency of the United States.

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM

Adopted by the Indiana Republican State Convention, 1908.

Following is the platform as reported by the committee on resolutions and unanimously adopted by the convention:

ROOSEVELT INDORSED.

We unreservedly and enthusiastically indorse the administration of Theodore Roosevelt. Upon his initiative and under his guidance the Panama Canal has been begun and is rapidly being driven to completion. Upon his recommendation Congress has passed many laws which secure greater rights for the people and insure that honesty in business upon which alone permanent prosperity is builded.

Many of these laws, such as the law establishing the Department of Commerce and Labor, the pure food law, the meat inspection law, the railroad rate law and the irrigation law, will be historic in their permanence and increasingly salutary in their good effects for all the people. President Roosevelt's fearless and impartial enforcement of law, regardless of the wealth and power of the law-breaker, has secured not only greater observance of and respect for law than ever before, but also has quickened the moral sense of the nation. His great work in ending the war between Russia and Japan is one of the proudest achievements in the history of American statesmanship. His policy of strengthening the friendship between our own country and the republics of South America is far-reaching and profound in its good effect upon our commerce, and an invaluable aid toward maintaining peace throughout the world. The dispatch of our fleet to the Pacific has cemented the friendship of all South American countries toward us, and increased their respect for us, as it will strengthen the friendship and increase the respect of every country it visits.

The Republicans of Indiana, voicing the opinion of the great majority of the people, and all parties, congratulate President Roosevelt on his administration of the country's affairs and pledge our continued support of his policies.

AGAINST CORPORATION CONTRIBUTIONS.

The Republican party notes with pleasure the growing determination to eradicate political corruption from whatever source the same originates; and to the end that the party may respond to that sentiment, we oppose the contribution to political parties for campaign purposes by corporations of the State or nation, or by officers or persons in the behalf of such corporation, and we hereby commend the Indiana Republican State central committee for its refusal to accept contributions from corporations within or without the State.

We demand the most rigid economy in public expenditures and are opposed to the creation of unnecessary public offices.

ARMY, NAVY AND PENSIONS.

The Republican party always has favored a small standing army and a moderate navy; and notwithstanding the taking over of the Philippines and Porto Rico, and the guardianship of Cuba, the 63,000 men of our standing army and 38,000 sailors now in the service of the navy are proof of its adherence to that policy. The preservation of this policy has enabled us to pay liberal pensions to our soldiers and sailors and their widows and orphans. The pension appropriation this year is the largest in the history of the country, amounting to the magnificent sum of $150,869,000. In the last two years 322,000 soldiers have had their pensions increased by general law, and 8,000 private pension bills have been passed. We also congratulate the country in the proposed widows' pension law, now in conference between the two houses of Congress. The present administration of the Pension Bureau also has increased pension rates and liberalized the pension rules, all of which manifests the enduring gratitude of the republic to its heroes.

CURRENCY AND BANKING.

We favor such modification of our financial system as will supply the growing needs of industry and commerce, with a sufficient currency to minimize periodic money stringency; but such currency must always be so safeguarded that there shall be no doubt of its prompt redemption in gold, and we congratulate the country on the fact that the Congress of the United States is now engaged in the solution of this great problem. We also favor such regulations respecting banking as will secure and maintain confidence in the integrity of our banking institutions.

WELFARE OF WAGE EARNERS.

Throughout its whole history the Republican party has been inspired with an intelligent and enduring interest in the welfare of wage earners. The Republican party came into being as an advocate of the dignity of labor and in behalf of the cause of free labor. Its cardinal purpose has been the maintenance of the American standard of wages and of living, and since the days of Abraham Lincoln, in state and nation, it has enacted laws in the interest of labor and the upbuilding of a progressive industrial system. The Republican party is pledged to a progressive program of labor legislation, and now renews that pledge to meet the just demands of the workingmen of the country. We believe in the equal protection of the laws, and pledge the party to an impartial enforcement of the laws in favor of and against all alike.

RAILROADS AND COMBINATIONS.

We approve the laws enacted for the proper regulation of the railroad corporations and other combinations of capital, and we pledge the party to all additional safeguards necessary to a complete regulation of these combinations in the interest of trade and commerce, and in the interest of the general welfare of the people.

REVISION OF THE TARIFF.

The last convention of the Republican party in the State of Indiana declared in favor of revision of the tariff whenever such revision will do more good than harm. Protection never was a matter of schedules, and while reaffirming the time-honored doctrine that there shall always be discrimination in duties that will fully protect the wage earner in the United States, we never have desired a higher rate than would accomplish that purpose, and have always contemplated revision from time to time as the ever-changing conditions might make wise. We believe that revision would be now beneficial, and to minimize the harmful disturbance that tariff changes necessarily produce, we insist that revision be speedily done. We therefore favor the calling of an extra session early in November, 1908, to make such revision, and recommend that Congress take immediate steps to secure the proper data by experts for intelligent revision as advocated by our senators and representatives from this State; but we also insist that in such revision the protective principle shall be maintained and that maximum and minimum rates be imposed so that our export trade can be amply protected and foreign discriminations against us be prevented.

OCEAN MAIL SERVICE.

We favor the extension of the United States mail service upon the surrounding seas, in the interest of the public business and the establishment and extension of foreign trade, especially with South America; but we would limit the appropriation therefor to legitimate services performed in carrying the mails on the ocean in the same manner as appropriations are made for carrying the mails on land.

BUREAU OF MINES—ARBITRATION.

The appalling loss of life occasioned by mine disasters throughout the country in recent years demands an investigation of the causes which produce these disasters, so that proper steps may be taken by the general government and the various states to prevent their recurrence. Miners and operators both have petitioned Congress for relief through the establishment of a bureau of mines and mining for the investigation of these important questions. In pursuance of these important questions we solicit the Indiana delegation in Congress to support the pending proposition for the establishment of a bureau of mines and mining in the interest of preservation of human life.

We favor the settlement of all international differences by arbitration; and also favor arbitration in the settlement of disputes between capital and labor.

WATERWAYS, ARID LANDS AND FORESTS.

We favor a systematic, progressive and liberal improvement of our canals, rivers and harbors, and an adequate annual appropriation therefor is hereby recommended. We favor the continuance and extension of the reclamation service by which the arid lands of the United States are made productive. We also favor the preservation and conservation of our forests in the interest of adequate supply, for navigation and for the protection of the timber supply of the country.

CHILD SLAVERY DEPLORED.

The laws of Indiana controlling the employment of children are universally recognized as just, salutary and humane. They were passed by a Republican legislature, and are beyond criticism.

In great sections of the country a system of actual slavery of children exists, revolting to the human mind. Every power of the nation should be exercised to end it everywhere in the republic. The children of the country are its chief wealth and its hope, and we demand that Congress use all its power to end child labor throughout the entire nation.

REPUBLICAN LEGISLATION IN INDIANA.

The Republican party for twelve years has been intrusted by increasing majorities with the entire administration and control of the public affairs of our State. During this period the executive and judicial departments have enforced the laws justly and impartially, while the legislative department has enacted many important measures at the will and for the good of the people. Of these we mention:

1. The labor commission.
2. Railway commission and rate laws.
3. County and township reform laws.
4. The factory and mine inspection law.
5. The private banking law.
6. The depository law for all public funds.
7. Laws turning all fees into the treasury and paying salaries only to public officers.
8. Creating and regulating trust companies.
9. Regulating insurance companies.
10. Pure food and drug laws.
11. Anti-trust and monopoly laws.
12. Laws securing nonpartisan management of our benevolent, reformatory and penal institutions.
13. Mortgage exemption laws.
14. Laws giving the people in their several localities power to prevent the sale of liquors.

LAWS PROPOSED FOR 1909 SESSION.

The Republican party has fought the fight for honesty and integrity in every office; and for swift and impartial enforcement of the laws. It advocates and enforces the maxim that a public office is a public trust, which must be discharged with strict fidelity. In this work the Republican party will not falter or halt, but will advance the cause of reform and better government as fast as the same can be wisely worked out, with the approval and continued support of the people. Our short legislative period limits the ability of the General Assembly to frame and enact all necessary legislation in one session. At the next session we recommend the passage of laws on the following subjects:

1. A practical primary election law.
2. A law revising and simplifying the practice in courts, and abolishing technicalities.
3. Our laws concerning public service and other corporations are scattered through the session laws since 1850, and are confused, conflicting and often inadequate for present needs. We therefore recommend that a bill be framed prior to the meeting of the next legislature for its consideration, revising and amending the corporation laws, and better regulating the use of public franchises and for the suppression of fictitious and watered stock, and carefully safeguarding the right of the people in the enjoyment of all public utilities.

REMONSTRANCE AND COUNTY LOCAL OPTION.

The Nicholson law as originally enacted was the work of a Republican legislature, and the Moore amendment thereto was passed by a Republican General Assembly.

By this legislation the people of every township and of every city ward in the State have been given the opportunity to say for themselves whether the retail liquor traffic shall be permitted in their respective communities.

Both the original statute and the amendment thereto have been construed and sustained by the supreme judicial tribunal of the State, and have now a well understood and accepted meaning.

The extent to which the people have made use of them is indicated by the fact that since the enactment of the Moore amendment the saloon has been excluded from many communities of the State.

We favor the preservation of these statutes without impairment, in letter or by implication, and their reinforcement where necessary, and in addition and supplementary thereto we favor the enactment of a county local option law extending to the people of the respective counties of the State the right to exclude the saloons therefrom by vote at a special election.

GOVERNOR HANLY INDORSED.

We indorse the administration of Governor J. Frank Hanly and other state officers, and pledge ourselves to carry forward the business methods and enforcement of law that has stood out so prominently in their direction of the affairs of state.

NO SALARY INCREASE DURING TERM.

We are opposed to the increase of the salary of any public officer in the State for the term of office for which he has been nominated or elected; and we favor the enactment of an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Indiana prohibiting any such increase; and until the adoption of such amendment we declare it to be the fixed policy of the Republican party to oppose any such increase.

STATE LABOR LEGISLATION.

The Republican party has always been a friend of organized labor and wage earners, and now pledges itself for such legislation in the State of Indiana as will be fair, just and equitable to all branches of labor.

however employed. And we further recognize the right and equitable principle of arbitration in labor disputes, and pledge ourselves for the enactment of such laws in harmony with the principles herein pronounced as will be beneficial and wholesome to all concerned.

It is recognized that fuel is an essential element in our industrial development, and the need of proper safety appliances to protect those engaged in the hazardous occupation of mining is apparent to all, and we pledge our support to the enactment of such just and proper laws as will improve the ventilation in mines, provide more efficient safety appliances for the protection of the mine workers, and the rigid enforcement of all law for the protection of the miner, and also recommend that the appointment of mine inspector be vested in the Governor.

We commend the law abolishing prison contract labor in our penal and reformatory institutions, and the establishment of an account system and trade schools. In so doing we have minimized competition with free labor, and at the same time we are giving the inmates of these institutions such education and training in industry and handicraft as will enable them to be returned to their people and to society as self-reliant and self-supporting citizens.

ELECTION OF ALL DELEGATES ON SAME DAY.

In the interest of the wholesome expression of the political sentiment of individual communities, that they may be uninfluenced by outside interference, we hereby recommend to the Republican state committee the adoption of rules that shall require all delegates to state nominating conventions to be elected at the same time, on a call of the state committee; also that congressional nominating primaries or conventions held to select delegates to congressional nominating conventions of each district shall be held on the same day on call of the congressional committee of each of the several districts.

DEPOSITORIES FOR PUBLIC FUNDS.

A Republican legislature enacted a law establishing depositories for public funds and providing that all interest on such funds shall accrue to the people, thereby revolutionizing the fiscal policy of local and State government, creating new and substantial revenues for each, and closing the door to abuses flagrant and long standing.

FAIRBANKS FOR PRESIDENT.

The Republicans of Indiana present to the Republicans of the nation and to the Republican national convention, Charles Warren Fairbanks as a candidate for President.

We know him. Distinguished place and high commission have revealed his worth. His character, public service and ability are such as to deserve the thoughtful consideration of the convention.

He believes in the principles of the party, its present purposes. He has long been identified with its work, and has for years borne a distinguished part in its campaigns. He is wise in council. His judgment is deliberate and sound. He possesses a steadfast purpose and conservative courage. His heart is kind; his sympathies sincere and wise; his dignity modest, but real; his sense of justness exact, equal and abiding. His private life is pure; his home life ideal; his public life unblemished.

For these reasons we instruct the delegates at large elected by this convention and the district delegates heretofore elected, to present his name to the national convention and spare no effort to secure his nomination as the Republican choice for the next presidency.

ABLE REPRESENTATION IN CONGRESS.

We have pride in the fact that no State in the Union is more ably represented in the Senate of the United States than Indiana. We compliment the people upon the return of Albert J. Beveridge to the United States Senate through the act of the Republican legislature of 1905, following the election of 1904; and also upon the election of James A. Hemenway to fill out the term in the Senate of Charles W. Fairbanks, who resigned to become the Vice-President of the United States. The long and faithful service of Mr. Beveridge and Mr. Hemenway in the Congress has fully justified the high confidence which has been placed in them by the State. We approve, unqualifiedly, the course of each of these eminent citizens of Indiana. We earnestly advocate the continuation of them in the public service in which they are now engaged. And, inasmuch as the legislature which will choose a successor to Senator Hemenway will be elected this year, we commend him to the General Assembly of 1909 as the choice of the Republicans of Indiana, and we hereby heartily indorse him for reelection.

Our members in the National House of Representatives have discharged in a statesmanlike manner their several important duties, and have well earned the gratitude of the people of the State.

NEW AND GOODRICH INDORSED.

We commend the faithful and energetic services of Harry S. New as the representative of the Republican party of the State upon the national committee, and we therefore instruct the delegates at large elected by this convention and the district delegates heretofore elected to again select him as the member of the national committee for the State of Indiana.

The Republicans of Indiana appreciate the efficient and able service of James P. Goodrich as chairman of the state committee for the last seven years. He has been alert in the discharge of his duties, and under his leadership the party has gained greater and more decisive victories. He has used every honorable means at his command to secure a faithful performance of the party pledges, and this service has been rendered wholly in the interest and for the general welfare of the people.

PARTY EMBLEM.

Resolved, That the eagle be adopted as the emblem of the Republican party in Indiana.

PROHIBITION PLATFORM

May 20, 1908.

The Prohibition party of Indiana, in convention assembled this 20th day of May, 1908, recognizing God as the author of all just government, makes the following declaration of principles, in support of which all voters are asked to cast their ballots on November 3d.

We demand the repeal of the internal revenue tax on alcoholic liquors and the immediate prohibition of the liquor traffic for beverage purposes in the District of Columbia, in the territories and in all places over which our national government has jurisdiction.

We declare that the time has come when the rights of the states should be protected by national law entirely prohibiting the interstate traffic in intoxicating liquors and forbidding the use of the mails in connection with such traffic, as is done in relation to lotteries.

We favor an equitable graduated income and inheritance tax.

We favor the establishment of postal savings banks and the enactment of a law which will provide protection and security to depositors in banks.

We demand the enactment and strict enforcement of laws regulating all corporations doing an interstate business so that the people shall be properly protected.

We favor the election of President, Vice-President and United States senators by direct vote of the people.

We favor the principle of the initiative and referendum in legislation.

We favor equal opportunities for capital and labor. We favor the enactment of such laws as will secure the nearest possible approach to this equality. We further hold that the process of injunction should be restored to its rational and normal use by requiring a due consideration of its purpose before being granted, and then only granted where there is the clearest necessity for it.

We hold that in a large measure the evil of child labor can be traced to the liquor traffic.

We declare that the veterans of the civil war are entitled to the comforts of home in their old age, and we favor an adequate pension without regard to age or disability.

We are in favor of the repeal of that part of the election law which prohibits the placing of the name of a candidate on the ballot more than once.

We favor a just reduction of all excessive salaries of state and county officers and demand the enactment of a new fee and salary law which will deprive such officers of all fees and perquisites and require them to accept as full compensation the salary provided by law. To this end we pledge our candidates for the legislature to the enactment of such a law which will be made so plain that it cannot be interpreted away by the courts.

We also pledge the various candidates of the Prohibition party throughout the State, if elected, to turn back into the public treasury all the fees provided by the present fee and salary law, thus cutting off a large part of the burden of taxation.

We condemn the official tolerance and practical license of the social evil which prevails in many of our cities with its unspeakable traffic in girls. This evil is almost universally associated with the traffic in intoxicants, and should be suppressed by the rigid enforcement of the law.

We demand an adequate statute for the impeachment of all officials who neglect or refuse to enforce the laws. We pledge the people of Indiana that wherever the Prohibition party attains favor and holds the offices, the laws shall be enforced until repealed.

We assert or believe that the present tendency to graft has its origin in the purchasing of exemption from prosecution by law-violating saloon keepers and has been fostered and encouraged by the bribe of license which the liquor traffic has been paying for permission to live, and we declare that the spirit of graft can never be overcome so long as a business which is condemned by the churches, the courts and all Christian civilization is legalized for the money it will pay and the revenue it will bring.

We favor the uniform enforcement of state laws and protest against the nullification of such laws by city and county officials, and we declare for the enactment of a statute giving to the Governor or attorney-general the right to appoint a special officer to enforce the law in any locality whose officers neglect their duties.

We declare that no person of foreign birth should have the right to vote until he has resided in this country for a period of five years and taken out his final naturalization papers. We are opposed to disfranchising any part of the citizenship on account of sex.

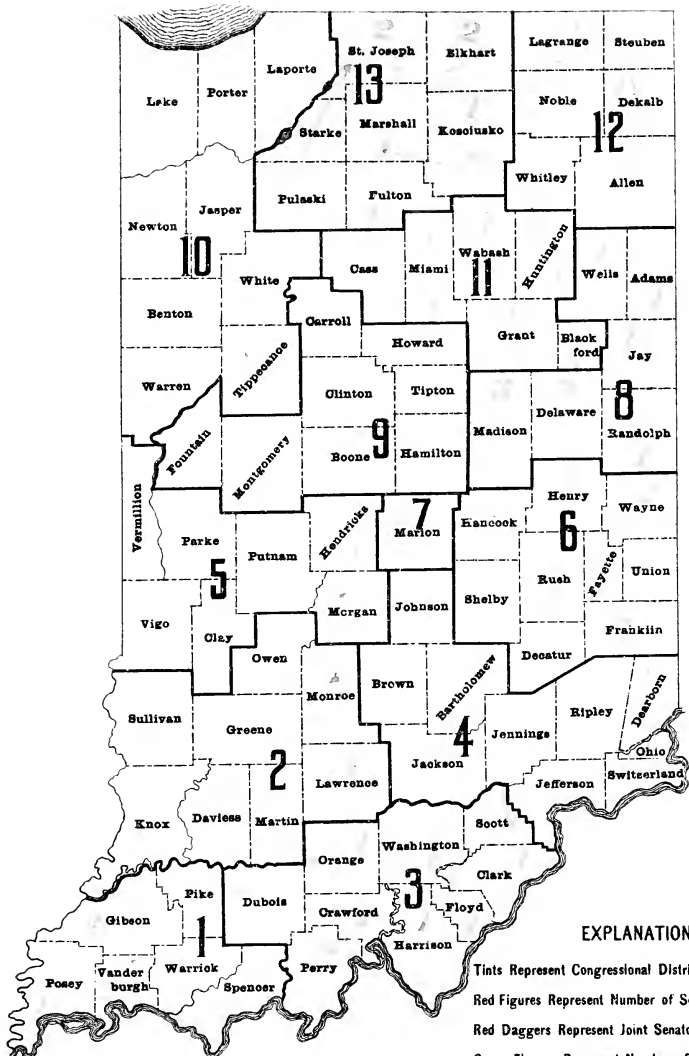

For half a century the policy of this State has been to perpetuate the liquor traffic by a license law which neither the Republican nor Democratic party proposes to change. This license system, which grants the privilege of creating criminals, paupers and lunatics and causes deaths, divorces, misery and poverty, and barter away the health and morals of the people, is a political crime. We declare that no legal power constitutionally exists to license the liquor traffic. We deny the right of Congress, the legislature or the people of this State or any subdivision thereof, by majority vote or otherwise, to grant a privilege to any one to engage in a crime of such enormity. We propose to give the saloons no option, no respite, no choice and no quarter. We are in favor of prohibition in any and all the territory of the State or United States, but are not in favor of giving consent to the existence of any saloon anywhere. It being generally conceded that a very large majority of the voters of Indiana are opposed to the saloon, we pledge our party, if placed in power, to the enactment and enforcement of a state-wide prohibition law.

STANDING RULES AND ORDERS FOR THE GOVERNMENT OF THE HOUSE

CHAPTER I.

TOUCHING THE DUTY OF SPEAKER.

1. The Speaker shall take the chair every day precisely at the hour to which the House shall have adjourned on the preceding day; shall immediately call the members to order; and shall cause the Journal of the preceding day to be read, unless by a vote of the House the reading of the same be dispensed with.

2. The Speaker shall examine and correct the Journal before it is read. He shall have a general direction of the hall. He may name any member to perform the duties of the chair, but such substitution shall not extend beyond one day. He shall have the right to name any member to bear messages to the Senate, and to appoint all committees, unless otherwise specially directed by the House, in which case they shall be appointed by vote.

3. The Speaker shall preserve order and decorum. He may speak to points of order in preference to other members, rising from his seat for that purpose, and shall decide questions of order, subject to an appeal to the House by any two members, which appeal shall be in writing and signed by the members taking such appeal, and shall clearly state the point of order decided by the Chair, on which appeal no member shall speak more than once, unless by leave of the House: Provided, That no appeal from the decision of the chair shall prevail except by a majority of all members elected to the House.

4. The Speaker may state a question sitting, but shall rise to put a question to the vote of the House.

5. Questions shall be substantially put in this form, namely: "As many as are of the opinion that (as the question may be), say aye," and after the affirmative vote is expressed, "As many as are of the contrary opinion, say no." If the Speaker doubts, or a division be called for, the House shall divide, those in the affirmative shall first rise from their seats and remain standing until they are counted, and afterwards those in the negative in like manner. If the Speaker still doubts, or a count be required, the Speaker shall name two members, one from each side, to tell those in the affirmative and negative, and the results being reported, he shall rise and report the decision of the House.

6. The Speaker shall vote in all elections; when the yeas and nays are taken, his name being called last; and upon all other questions, when the House is equally divided, he shall give the casting vote, or when his vote would make an equal division he shall vote upon the call of any member; and in all cases of equal division the question shall be lost.

7. He shall sign all acts, addresses, joint resolutions, writs, warrants, and subpoenas of, or issued by order of, the House, and decide all questions of order, subject to an appeal by any two members, on which appeal no member shall speak more than once, unless by permission of the House.

8. In case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct in the galleries or lobby, the Speaker (or Chairman of the Committee of the Whole House) shall have the power to order the same to be cleared.

9. Every motion shall be reduced to writing, if the Speaker or any member request it.

10. When a motion is made and seconded, it shall be stated by the Speaker, or, being in writing, read aloud by the Clerk, and seconded before it shall be debated; after which it shall be in possession of the House, but may be withdrawn at any time before a decision or amendment.

CHAPTER II.

RIGHTS AND DUTIES OF MEMBERS.

11. No member shall absent himself from the service of the House unless he have leave, or be sick and unable to attend.

12. Seven members, with the Speaker, or eight members in his absence, one of whom they shall elect Speaker pro tem., may then call the House to order, compel the attendance of absent members, make an order for their fine and censure, and adjourn from day to day until a quorum shall be in attendance.

13. When any member desires to speak in debate, or deliver any matter to the House, he shall rise from his seat and respectfully address "Mr. Speaker," but shall not proceed until recognized by the Speaker, and shall confine himself to the question under consideration, and avoid personality, nor shall he impeach the motive of any member's vote or argument.

14. If any member, in speaking or otherwise, transgress the rules of the House, the Speaker, or any other member, may call him to order, in which case the member so called to order shall immediately sit down, unless permitted to explain; and the House shall, if appealed to, decide on the case in accordance with the proviso in Rule 3, but without debate. If there be no appeal, the decision of the Chair shall be submitted to. If the decision be in favor of the member called to order, he shall be at liberty to proceed; if otherwise he shall not be permitted to proceed, in case any member objects, without leave of the House; and, if the case requires it, he shall be liable to the censure of the House.

15. If a member be called to order for words spoken in debate, the person calling him to order shall repeat the words excepted to, and they shall be taken down in writing at the Clerk's table; and no member shall be held to answer, or be subject to the censure of the House, for words spoken in debate, if any other member has spoken or other business has intervened after the words spoken and before exception to them shall have been taken.

16. While the Speaker is putting any question or addressing the House, no member shall walk out of or across the House; nor, in such case, or when a member is speaking or delivering any matter to the House, shall pass between him and the Chair. Every member shall remain uncovered during the session of the House. No member or other person shall visit or remain by the Clerk's table while the yeas and nays are being called.

17. Every member who shall be in the House when the question is put shall give his vote, unless the House, for special reasons, shall excuse him. All motions to excuse a member from voting shall be made before the House divides, or before the call of the yeas and nays is commenced; and no call of the yeas and nays shall be entertained on a motion to excuse a member from voting. But any member requesting to be excused from voting may make a brief verbal statement of the reasons for making such request, and the question then be taken without further debate; and the refusal of a member to vote who is present and has not been excused from voting will be a high breach of decorum, and will subject the person so offending to a fine, censure and such other punishment as the House may order and impose.

18. No member shall vote on any question in the result of which he is immediately and particularly interested, or in any case when he was not within the bar of the House pending roll-call, unless by consent of the House; and in no case shall such absent member be allowed to vote after the result has been announced, when his vote shall change the decision of the question. For the purpose of determining whether a quorum is present, all members within the House, when the question is stated by the Speaker, and the vote is on a call of yeas and nays, shall be counted, and such of them as fail to respond to their names, when called, shall be noted by the Clerk as present and not voting. The hall of the House shall be deemed and held to include the entire chamber in which this body holds its sessions, and the bar of the House all of the space within the railing on the south side of the chamber and within the line of pillars on the west side.

19. When two or more members happen to rise at once, the Speaker shall name the member who is first to speak.

20. No member shall speak more than twice on the same question without the leave of the House, nor more than once until every member choosing to speak shall have spoken. And if a question be undisposed of by adjournment of the House, when resumed on the succeeding day, no member who shall have spoken twice on the preceding day shall be permitted again to speak without leave of the House.

21. The member who introduces a bill or joint resolution shall have a right to fifteen minutes of time to close the debate upon it, when it shall have reached its third reading. The right secured by this rule shall not be impaired, even after a demand for the previous question, but shall at all times remain in full force.

22. Members having petitions and memorials to present may hand them to the Speaker, indorsing the same with their names, and the reference or disposition to be made thereof, and such petitions and memorials shall be entered on the Journal, and shall be referred by the Speaker to the appropriate committees. And if any petition or memorial shall be so handed in, which, in the judgment of the Speaker, is not respectful and temperate, and free from offensive imputations upon the character or conduct of the Assembly, or other constituted authority, it shall be returned to the member from whom it was received. Any member having any petition, memorial, remonstrance, resolution, bill or other matter of which he was the mover or introducer, shall have a right to meet with and act as a member of the committee during the time said committee may have such subject under consideration, except that he shall not have a right to vote in said committee unless he be a regular member thereof.

23. During the reading of the Journal of the House no member, officer or employe of the House, whose station is within the bar of the House, shall leave his station or seat unless he shall have the consent of the House therefor.

CHAPTER III.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

24. As soon as the Journal is read, and the unfinished business in which the House was engaged at the last preceding adjournment has been disposed of, reports from committees shall be called for and disposed of, in doing which the Speaker shall call upon each standing committee in regular order, and then upon select committees; this order of business to continue for one hour, to be called the morning hour, if reports of committees under this order shall consume the hour. And if the Speaker shall not get through the call upon the committees before the House passes to other business, he shall resume the next call where he left off, giving preference to the report last under consideration: Provided, That whenever any committee shall have occupied the morning hour on two successive days it shall not be in order for such committee to report further until the other committees shall have been called in their turn.

25. Reports from committees having been presented and disposed of, the Speaker shall call for resolutions and bills from members by counties, arranged alphabetically, and if on any day all the counties shall not be called, the Speaker shall begin the next day where he left off the previous day: Provided, That no member shall present more than two bills or resolutions under the call each day.

26. After two hours shall have been devoted to reports from committees, resolutions and bills, it shall be in order, pending the consideration or discussion thereof, to entertain a motion that the House do now proceed to dispose of the business on the Speaker's table, and to the order of the day, which being decided in the affirmative, the Speaker shall dispose of the business on his table in the following order:

First. Executive and other communications.

Second. Messages from the Senate and amendments proposed by the Senate to bills of the House.

Third. Bills and resolutions from the Senate on their first reading that they may be referred to committees and put under way; but on being read a second time, they are to be ordered to their third reading, unless objection be made, in which case, if not otherwise ordered by a majority of the House, they are laid on the table in the general file of bills on the Speaker's table, to be taken up in their turns.

Fourth. Engrossed House bills and bills from the Senate on their third reading.

Fifth. Bills of the House on their engrossment and from the Senate on the Speaker's table, on being ordered to a third reading, to be taken up and considered in the order of time in which they passed to a second reading.

Sixth. The Speaker may order bills read a second time to the exclusion of other business (except special orders) on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Seventh. The messages, communications and bills on his table having been disposed of, the Speaker shall then proceed to call the orders of the day.

27. The consideration of the unfinished business in which the House may be engaged at an adjournment shall have preference in the order of the day, and no motion on any other business after the reading of the Journal shall be received without special leave of the House, until the former is disposed of.

CHAPTER IV.

28. The following shall be the standing committees, which shall severally consist of nine members, except the Committee on Ways and Means, Congressional and Legislative Apportionment, and on Fees and Salaries, each of which shall be composed of one member from each congressional district, except the Committee on Correction of the Journal, which shall be composed of five members, and the Speaker may, in his discretion, increase the Committee on The Judiciary to the number of eleven, and except the Committee on Criminal Code, which shall consist of not less than nine, nor more than thirteen members, in the discretion of the Speaker. CHAPTER V.

33. in forming a Committee of the Whole, the Speaker shall leave the chair and designate some member of the House to preside as Chairman.

34. Upon a bill being committed to a Committee of the Whole, the same shall be first read through by the Clerk (unless otherwise ordered by a majority), and then again read for amendment by sections, leaving the preamble, if any, and the title to be last considered. After report, when the bill is reported to the House, it shall again be read, if desired by a majority, for amendment and debate before a question for engrossing it shall be taken.

35. The body of the bill shall not be defaced or interlined, and all amendments shall be disposed of by the committee, either by adoption or rejection, and all such as have been agreed to shall be duly entered by the Clerk on a separate paper, and shall be incorporated with the motion to rise and report to the House, and shall be so reported to the House and the same shall be considered in the House in the order in which they were adopted in the committee.

36. The rules of proceeding in the House shall be observed in Committee of the Whole, so far as the same are applicable, except the rule limiting the time of speaking; but no member shall speak twice to any question until every member choosing to speak shall have spoken.

CHAPTER VI.

CONCERNING BILLS, JOINT RESOLUTIONS AND HOUSE RESOLUTIONS.

40. Every resolution of the House shall be written on not less than a full sheet of paper, and shall be signed by the member offering it.

41. Bills and joint resolutions out of the regular order may be introduced on the report of a committee; and resolutions concerning business pertaining to the House and concurrent resolutions, in which concurrent action is asked of the Senate, when offered during the call of counties, shall lie over until completion of the call. The Committee on Ways and Means shall be allowed to report at any time.

42. The first reading of a bill shall be for information, and, if opposition be made to it, the question shall be: "Shall the bill be rejected?" If no opposition be made, or the question to reject be negatived, the bill shall then, if no motion be made to the contrary, be committed to a regular or select committee, or to the Committee of the Whole House. If the bill be referred to the Committee of the Whole House, the House shall determine on what day it shall be considered.

43. 49. When a bill or joint resolution shall be put on its passage, and shall receive a majority of the votes cast, but not the number of votes required by the Constitution, the same shall not be considered lost; but, when the third reading of bills and joint resolutions is in order any member who voted with the majority, or who did not vote at all, may call the same up, and the House shall take another vote thereon, and any number of votes may be taken in such cases by the House, but there shall be no debate thereon.

50. No bill or joint resolution shall, at any time, be amended by annexing thereto, or incorporating therewith, any other bill or resolution pending before the House.

CHAPTER VII.

YEAS AND NAYS.

51. When the yeas and nays are taken upon any question, the names of the members shall be called alphabetically. After the call of the roll has been ordered, no motion shall be made in reference thereto, or debate had thereon. Nor shall any motion to adjourn, postpone or otherwise change the question on which the yeas and nays are being taken, be in order until the call thereof is completed, and the result announced by the Speaker.

52. When any vote is taken by the yeas and nays the question shall be stated substantially in the following manner, namely: "As many as are of the opinion that, etc., will, when their names are called, answer 'aye,' and as many as are of a different opinion, will, when their names are called, answer 'no.'" And when the vote is taken upon the passage of any bill or joint resolution, and when the same may be demanded by two members of the House, the Clerk shall, after the roll has been gone through, first read over the names of those who have answered in the affirmative, and then the names of those who have answered in the negative, in order that, if he has made any mistakes in noting the answer, or if any member has made a mistake in his answer, the mistake of either may be corrected.

53. Upon the call of the House, the names of the members shall be called by the Clerk, and absentees noted; after which the names of the absentees shall again be called; the doors shall then be shut, and those from whom no excuse, or insufficient excuses, are made, may, by order of those present, be taken into custody as they appear, or may be sent for and taken into custody wherever found by the Doorkeeper, or other officer or messenger appointed for that purpose.

54. When a member shall be discharged from custody and admitted to his seat, the House shall determine whether such discharge shall be with or without paying fines, and in like manner whether a delinquent member, taken into custody by a special messenger, shall or shall not be liable to defray the expenses of such special messenger.

CHAPTER VIII.

ON THE DIGNITY AND PRIVILEGE OF QUESTIONS.

55. No motion or proposition on a subject not germane to that under consideration shall be admitted under color of an amendment.

56. A motion to adjourn, and a motion to lay on the table, shall always be in order, and shall be decided without debate. A motion to fix a time to which the House shall adjourn is always in order, and is undebatable, if made while another question is pending; but, if made when no other question is pending, it is debatable.

A motion to adjourn shall not be put while the question is pending on seconding the demand for the previous question.

When less than a quorum is present no motion shall be entertained except to adjourn, or for a call of the House.

A motion for adjournment, or for the order of the day, can not be made by one member while another is speaking.

A motion which has been decided out of order can not be renewed.

Motions to postpone to a day certain, to commit or amend, may be amended, and shall have precedence in the order named.

57. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but to adjourn, to lay on the table, for the previous question, to postpone to a day certain, to postpone indefinitely, to commit or amend, which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are arranged; and no motion to postpone to a day certain, commit, or to postpone indefinitely, being decided, shall again be allowed on the same day, at the same stage of the bill or other proposition. A motion to strike out the enacting words of a bill or joint resolution shall have precedence of a motion to amend, and, if carried, shall be considered equivalent to its rejection.

58. When a motion is made to refer any subject, and different committees are named, the question shall be taken in the following order:

1. To the Committee of the Whole.
2. Standing committee.
3. A select committee.

And if the motion of reference is to different standing committees, the question shall be taken in the order in which the committees are named.

59. Any member may call for the division of a question before or after the main question is ordered, which shall be divided, if it comprehend propositions in substance so distinct that, one being taken away, a substantive proposition shall remain for the decision of the House. A motion to strike out and insert shall be deemed indivisible, but a motion to strike out being lost shall preclude neither amendment nor a motion to strike out and insert.

60. The previous question shall be in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?" It shall only be admitted when demanded by a majority of the members present, and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate and bring the House to a direct vote upon a motion to commit, if such motion shall have been made, and if this motion does not prevail, then upon amendments reported by a committee, if any, then upon pending amendments, and then upon the main question. But its only effect, if a motion to postpone is pending, shall be to bring the House to a vote upon such motion. On the previous question there shall be no debate. All incidental questions of order arising after a motion is made for the previous question, and pending such motion, shall be decided, whether on appeal or otherwise, without debate. And after a demand for the previous question has been seconded by the House, no motion shall be entertained to excuse a member from voting. The ordering of the previous question shall not prevent a member from explaining his vote, but no member, under this rule, shall be permitted more than one minute for that purpose.

61. When a motion has once been made and carried in the affirmative or negative it shall be in order for any member having voted with the majority to move for the reconsideration thereof, on the same or the succeeding day, and such motion shall take precedence of all other questions, except a motion to adjourn, and shall not be withdrawn after the said succeeding day without the consent of the House, and thereafter any member may call it up for consideration.

62. Any member may change his vote before the result is announced, and afterward, by leave of the House, provided such change will not affect the result.

63. When a question is postponed indefinitely, or when a motion to reconsider has been laid upon the table, the same shall not be acted on again during the session.

64. When a paper is first presented to the House it shall be a matter of right in any member to have it read before the House shall vote upon it. If the paper has been once read, or the reading dispensed with, and the reading be again required and objected to, it shall be determined by a vote of the House.

65. A motion to lay proposed amendments on the table, if it prevails, shall not affect the general subject to which said amendments are offered.

66. Every bill reported favorably by a committee and such other bills as the House may direct, shall be printed, unless the committee reporting such bill shall recommend that such bill shall not be printed. All bills shall be printed in bill form, the pages and lines to be numbered; the outer margin of each page to be not less than one and one-fourth inch, and shall be placed on the desk of each member not later than on the day preceding the day that the bill shall be taken up for second reading: Provided, That this rule shall not apply to bills reported during the last week of the session: Provided further, That all bills shall be printed on good paper. This rule shall not apply to the general appropriation bill.

67. No motion to suspend the constitutional rule requiring a bill to be read on three several days shall be entertained unless seconded by a majority of the House.

CHAPTER IX.

DUTIES OF OFFICERS OF THE HOUSE.

68. The Principal and Assistant Clerks and their assistants, and the Doorkeeper and his assistants, shall, before entering upon the discharge of their duties, take an oath to support the Constitution of the United States and of the State of Indiana, and to faithfully, impartially and honestly discharge the duties of their offices.

69. The Clerk shall keep a journal of the decisions of the Chair, to be inserted at the close of the Journal of the House.

70. Inasmuch as the number a bill takes when introduced by a member is only for convenience in filing the same, and a convenient reference in the matter of order, and is no part of the bill or act itself, it shall be the duty of the Assistant Clerk of the House to see that the title of every bill introduced appears on the Journal of the House, at every action thereon; that all joint resolutions amending the Constitution of the State shall appear of record in full, at each action thereon, and all motions, resolutions, reports, petitions and amendments to bills or other matters shall appear of record in a manner approved by the committee to examine the Journal.

71. It shall be the duty of the Doorkeeper to attend to the House during its session, announce all messages, keep the hall and committee rooms in perfect order, to prevent smoking in the halls and lobbies at all times, to maintain order in the lobbies and galleries, to execute all process issued by the authority of the House, and directed to him by the Speaker, and in all things to execute the commands of the Speaker and of the House.

CHAPTER X.

MISCELLANEOUS.

72. The sessions of the House shall commence at 10 o'clock a. m. and 2 o'clock p. m. of each legislative day: Provided, however, That for the first fourteen days, unless otherwise ordered, there shall be but one session each day, beginning at 10 o'clock a. m.

73. All claims against the State shall first be presented in the House and referred to the Committee on Claims before being referred to any other committee.

74. When messages, including bills in all their phases, acts for the signature of the Speaker, and joint or concurrent resolutions are received from the Senate by the House, they shall be announced at the door by the Doorkeeper, and shall be respectfully communicated in writing to the Chair by the person by whom sent.

75. Any standing rule or order of the House, or order of business, may be rescinded, changed or suspended without previous notice, upon a constitutional majority vote of the House, and a motion for such purpose shall be in order at any time and shall have precedence over all other business.

76. No person, except members of the General Assembly and its officers, and members of the Executive and Judicial Departments of State, shall be admitted upon the floor of the House without the consent of the Speaker.

77. Upon all questions not provided for by these rules it is ordered that the rules of "Jefferson's Manual" shall be regarded as the parliamentary guide of this House.

2. The style of every bill is:
"Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Indiana."—Const., Art. IV, Sec. 1.
3. Every bill must be read on three several days.—Const., Art. IV, Sec. 18.
4. In case of an emergency, the constitutional rule requiring bills to be read on three several days may be suspended by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to either branch of the Legislature, at which time the bill may be read three times the same day.—Const., Art. IV, Sec. 18.
5. Regular order of procedure in the passage of a bill:
 - First. Introduction and first reading.
 - Second. Reference to a committee.
 - Third. Reports back from committee, with or without recommendations.
 - Fourth. Second reading, when it is open for amendment, commitment, or engrossment.
 - Fifth. Order to engrossment.
 - Sixth. Third reading.
 - Seventh. Vote on passage.
 - Eighth. Enrollment after passage by both houses.
6. Irregular order of procedure in the passage of a bill:

 - Second. Motion to suspend constitutional rule.
 - Third. Yeas and nays on suspension of rule.
 - Fourth. Read second time.
 - Fifth. Open for amendment, commitment or engrossment.
 - Sixth. Considered to be engrossed.
 - Seventh. Read third time.
 - Eighth. Vote on its passage.
 - Ninth. Enrollment after passage by both houses.
7. A bill when enacted into a law is perpetual until amended or repealed.
8. A joint resolution has the same binding effect as a bill and must take the same course in becoming a law, except that when its purpose is accomplished its force as a law is at an end.
9. The style of enacting clause of a joint resolution is: "Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Indiana."

10. A joint resolution must be read on three several days, must be subjected to all changes that a bill is subjected to, and must be spread in full on the Journal of both branches of the General Assembly.—Const., Art. XVI, Sec. 1.

11. Bills and joint resolutions, when they have passed both branches of the General Assembly, and have been enrolled, must be first signed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, then by the President of the Senate, after which they are presented by the Joint Committee on Enrolled Bills to the Governor for his approval.—Joint Rule No. 4.

CHAPTER II.

RESOLUTIONS.

12. A resolution of either branch of the General Assembly applies only to business connected with the house in which it originates.

13. The style of such resolution is: "Resolved (or be it resolved) by the House of Representatives, That," etc. Or, if it originates in the Senate, "Resolved (or be it resolved) by the Senate," etc.

14. A concurrent resolution pertains to business between the two branches of the General Assembly, and requires but one reading in either branch. The style is: "Be it resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring, That," or "Be it resolved by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring, That—"

15. A concurrent resolution differs from the joint resolution in this:

First. That it may be adopted on its first reading.

Second. That any appropriation of money from the State Treasury can not be made by it.

Third. That it is not to be enrolled.

Fourth. That it is not signed by the Speaker, President of the Senate, or Governor.

Fifth. That if the subject requires it, its adoption may be certified to by the Clerk of the House, and the Secretary of the Senate.

Sixth. That its binding effect does not extend beyond the session in which it originates.

Seventh. That its principal use is that of a request or instruction by the two houses jointly.

Eighth. That, if a resolution of instruction, the practice is, that a copy of the original is certified to by the Secretary of the Senate and by the Clerk of the House, and delivered to or sent to its destination.

CHAPTER III.

MISCELLANEOUS.

16. Bills and joint resolutions must be preceded by title.

17. The title of a bill or joint resolution is no part of the body of the bill or joint resolution, and is not open for amendment or adoption until after the bill or joint resolution has passed.

18. The subject of a bill or joint resolution must be set forth in the title.

19. A bill, to be considered, must contain an enacting clause at the beginning of the first section.

20. A bill may be rejected at its introduction.

21. A bill or joint resolution, once rejected, can not be brought before the House during the session, except as new matter.

22. When the enacting clause of a bill or joint resolution is stricken out, it is equivalent to rejection, and such action can not be reconsidered.

23. A demand for the previous question must be seconded by the majority of the members present before the vote is taken on the demand.

24. The yeas and nays on a motion to adjourn must be demanded by one-tenth of the number of members present.

25. A motion to reconsider the vote by which a bill has passed is not in order after the bill has left the house in which such a motion is made until said bill is again in possession of that house.

26. A resolution may be adopted requesting the house to which the bill has been sent to return the same.

27. A substitute for a bill or resolution is merely one form of an amendment, and can not do away with the original, in case of a bill, except all after the enacting clause.

28. All after the enacting clause may be stricken out of a bill, but it still retains its place on the calendar as a bill.

29. A motion to reconsider a vote by which an amendment, or other proposition, is laid on the table, is not in order.

30. A motion to reconsider the vote to indefinitely postpone is not in order.

31. It is not in order to take from the table a motion to reconsider.

CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF INDIANA, 1851

PREAMBLE.

To the end, that justice be established, public order maintained, and liberty perpetuated; We, the people of the State of Indiana, grateful to Almighty God for the free exercise of the right to choose our own form of government, do ordain this Constitution.

ARTICLE I.

BILL OF RIGHTS.

Section 1. We declare, that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness; that all power is inherent in the people; and that all free governments are, and of right ought to be, founded on their authority, and instituted for their peace, safety, and well being. For the advancement of these ends, the people have, at all times, an indefeasible right to alter and reform their government.

Sec. 2. All men shall be secured in the natural right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of their own consciences.

Sec. 3. No law shall, in any case whatever, control the free exercise and enjoyment of religious opinions, or interfere with the rights of conscience.

Sec. 4. No preference shall be given, by law, to any creed, religious society, or mode of worship; and no man shall be compelled to attend, erect, or support, any place of worship, or to maintain any ministry, against his consent.

Sec. 5. No religious test shall be required, as a qualification for any office of trust or profit.

Sec. 6. No money shall be drawn from the treasury, for the benefit of any religious or theological institution.

Sec. 7. No person shall be rendered incompetent as a witness, in consequence of his opinions on matters of religion.

Sec. 8. The mode of administering an oath or affirmation, shall be such as may be most consistent with, and binding upon, the conscience of the person, to whom such oath or affirmation may be administered.

Sec. 9. No law shall be passed restraining the free interchange of thought and opinion, or restricting the right to speak, write, or print, freely, on any subject whatever; but for the abuse of that right, every person shall be responsible.

Sec. 10. In all prosecutions for libel, the truth of the matters alleged to be libelous may be given in justification.

Sec. 11. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable search or seizure, shall not be violated; and no warrant shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the person or thing to be seized.

Sec. 12. All courts shall be open; and every man for injury done to him in his person, property, or reputation, shall have remedy by due course of law. Justice shall be administered freely, and without purchase; completely and without denial; speedily and without delay.

Sec. 13. In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall have the right to a public trial, by an impartial jury, in the county in which the offense shall have been committed; to be heard by himself and counsel; to demand the nature and cause of the accusation against him, and to have a copy thereof; to meet the witnesses face to face, and to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor.

Sec. 14. No person shall be put in jeopardy twice for the same offense. No person, in any criminal prosecution, shall be compelled to testify against himself.

Sec. 15. No person arrested, or confined in jail, shall be treated with unnecessary rigor.

Sec. 16. Excessive bail shall not be required. Excessive fines shall not be imposed. Cruel and unusual punishment shall not be inflicted. All penalties shall be proportioned to the nature of the offense.

Sec. 17. Offenses, other than murder or treason, shall be bailable by sufficient sureties. Murder or treason shall not be bailable, when the proof is evident, or the presumption strong.

Sec. 18. The penal code shall be founded on the principles of reformation, and not of vindictive justice.

Sec. 19. In all criminal cases whatever, the jury shall have the right to determine the law and the facts.

Sec. 20. In all civil cases, the right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate.

Sec. 21. No man's particular services shall be demanded, without just compensation. No man's property shall be taken by law, without just compensation; nor, except in case of the State, without such compensation first assessed and tendered.

Sec. 22. The privilege of the debtor to enjoy the necessary comforts of life, shall be recognized by wholesome laws, exempting a reasonable amount of property from seizure or sale for the payment of any debt or liability hereafter contracted; and there shall be no imprisonment for debt, except in case of fraud.

Sec. 23. The General Assembly shall not grant to any citizen, or class of citizens, privileges or immunities, which, upon the same terms, shall not equally belong to all citizens.

Sec. 24. No ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contract, shall ever be passed.

Sec. 25. No law shall be passed, the taking effect of which shall be made to depend upon any authority, except as provided in this Constitution.

Sec. 26. The operation of the laws shall never be suspended, except by the authority of the General Assembly.

Sec. 27. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, except in case of rebellion or invasion; and then, only if the public safety demand it.

Sec. 28. Treason against the State shall consist only in levying war against it, and in giving aid and comfort to its enemies.

Sec. 29. No person shall be convicted of treason, except on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or upon his confession in open court.

Sec. 30. No conviction shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture of estate.

Sec. 31. No law shall restrain any of the inhabitants of the State from assembling together in a peaceable manner, to consult for their common good; nor from instructing their representatives; nor from applying to the General Assembly for redress of grievances.

Sec. 32. The people shall have a right to bear arms for the defense of themselves and the State.

Sec. 33. The military shall be kept in strict subordination to the civil power.

Sec. 34. No soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house, without the consent of the owner; nor, in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

Sec. 35. The General Assembly shall not grant any title of nobility, nor confer hereditary distinctions.

Sec. 36. Emigration from the State shall not be prohibited.

Sec. 37. There shall be neither slavery, nor involuntary servitude, within the State, otherwise than for the punishment of crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted. No indenture of any Negro or Mulatto, made or executed out of the bounds of the State, shall be valid within the State.

ARTICLE II.

Sec. 3. No soldier, seaman, or marine, in the army or navy of the United States, or of their allies, shall be deemed to have acquired a residence in the State in consequence of having been stationed within the same; nor shall any such soldier, seaman, or marine, have the right to vote.

Sec. 4. No person shall be deemed to have lost his residence in the State, by reason of his absence, either on business of the State or of the United States.

Sec. 5. [Stricken out by constitutional amendment of March 24, 1881.]

Sec. 6. Every person shall be disqualified from holding office, during the term for which he may have been elected, who shall have given or offered a bribe, threat, or reward, to procure his election.

Sec. 7. Every person who shall give or accept a challenge to fight a duel, or who shall knowingly carry to another person such challenge, or who shall agree to go out of the State to fight a duel, shall be ineligible to any office of trust or profit.

Sec. 8. The General Assembly shall have power to deprive of the right of suffrage, and to render ineligible any person convicted of an infamous crime.

Sec. 9. No person holding a lucrative office or appointment under the United States or under this State, shall be eligible to a seat in the General Assembly; nor shall any person hold more than one lucrative office at the same time, except as in this Constitution expressly permitted: Provided, That offices in the militia, to which there is attached no annual salary, and the office of Deputy Postmaster where the compensation does not exceed ninety dollars per annum, shall not be deemed lucrative: And provided, also, That counties containing less than one thousand polls may confer the office of Clerk, Recorder, and Auditor, or any two of said offices, upon the same person.

Sec. 10. No person who may hereafter be a collector or holder of public moneys, shall be eligible to any office of trust or profit, until he shall have accounted for, and paid over, according to law, all sums for which he may be liable.

Sec. 11. In all cases in which it is provided that an office shall not be filled by the same person more than a certain number of years continuously, an appointment pro tempore shall not be reckoned a part of that term.

Sec. 12. In all cases, except treason, felony, and breach of the peace, electors shall be free from arrest, in going to elections, during their attendance there, and in returning from the same.

Sec. 13. All elections by the People shall be by ballot; and all elections by the General Assembly, or by either branch thereof, shall be viva voce.

Sec. 14. All general elections shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November; but township elections may be held at such time as may be provided by law: Provided, That the General Assembly may provide by law for the election of all judges of courts of general or appellate jurisdiction, by an election to be held for such officers only, at which time no other officer shall be voted for; and shall also provide for the registration of all persons entitled to vote.

ARTICLE III.

DISTRIBUTION OF POWERS.

Section 1. The powers of the Government are divided into three separate departments: the Legislative, the Executive (including the Administrative), and the Judicial: And no person, charged with official duties under one of these departments, shall exercise any of the functions of another except as in this Constitution expressly provided.

ARTICLE IV.

LEGISLATIVE.

Section 1. The Legislative authority of the State shall be vested in a General Assembly, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives. The style of every law shall be, "Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Indiana;" and no law shall be enacted, except by bill.

Sec. 2. The Senate shall not exceed fifty, nor the House of Representatives one hundred members; and they shall be chosen by the electors of the respective counties or districts, into which the State may, from time to time, be divided.

Sec. 3. Senators shall be elected for the term of four years, and Representatives for the term of two years, from the day next after their general election: Provided, however, That the Senators elect, at the second meeting of the General Assembly under this Constitution, shall be divided, by lot, into two equal classes, as nearly as may be; and the seats of Senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of two years, and of those of the second class at the expiration of four years; so that one-half, as nearly as possible, shall be chosen biennially forever thereafter. And in case of increase in the number of Senators, they shall be so annexed by lot, to the one or the other of the two classes, as to keep them as nearly equal as practicable.

Sec. 4. The General Assembly shall, at its second session after the adoption of this Constitution, and every sixth year thereafter, cause an enumeration to be made of all the male inhabitants over the age of twenty-one years.

Sec. 5. The number of Senators and Representatives shall, at the session next following each period of making such enumeration, be fixed by law, and apportioned among the several counties, according to the number of male inhabitants, above twenty-one years of age, in each: Provided, That the first and second elections of members of the General Assembly, under this Constitution, shall be according to the apportionment last made by the General Assembly before the adoption of this Constitution.

Sec. 6. A Senatorial or Representative district, where more than one county shall constitute a district, shall be composed of contiguous counties; and no county, for Senatorial apportionment, shall ever be divided.

Sec. 7. No person shall be a Senator or a Representative who, at the time of his election, is not a citizen of the United States; nor any one who has not been, for two years next preceding his election, an inhabitant this State, and for one year next preceding his election, an inhabitant of the county or district, whence he may be chosen. Senators shall be at least twenty-five, and Representatives, at least twenty-one years of age.

Sec. 8. Senators and Representatives, in all cases except treason, felony, and breach of the peace, shall be privileged from arrest, during the session of the General Assembly, and in going to and returning from the same; and shall not be subject to any civil process, during the session of the General Assembly, nor during the fifteen days next before the commencement thereof. For any speech or debate in either House, a member shall not be questioned in any other place.

Sec. 9. The sessions of the General Assembly shall be held biennially at the capital of the State, commencing on the Thursday next after the first Monday of January, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-three, and on the same day of every second year thereafter, unless a different day or place shall have been appointed by law. But if, in the opinion of the Governor, the public welfare shall require it, he may, at any time by proclamation, call a special session.

Sec. 10. Each House, when assembled, shall choose its own officers, the President of the Senate excepted; judge the elections, qualifications, and returns of its own members; determine its rules of proceeding, and sit upon its own adjournment. But neither House shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any place other than that in which it may be sitting.

Sec. 11. Two-thirds of each House shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may meet, adjourn from day to day, and compel the attendance of absent members. A quorum being in attendance, if either House fail to effect an organization within the first five days thereafter, the members of the House so failing, shall be entitled to no compensation from the end of the said five days, until an organization shall have been effected.

Sec. 12. Each House shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and publish the same. The yeas and nays, on any question, shall, at the request of any two members, be entered, together with the names of the members demanding the same, on the journal: Provided, That on a motion to adjourn, it shall require one-tenth of the members present to order the yeas and nays.

Sec. 13. The doors of each House, and of Committees of the Whole, shall be kept open, except in such cases, as, in the opinion of either House, may require secrecy.

Sec. 14. Either House may punish its members for disorderly behavior, and may, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member; but not a second time for the same cause.

Sec. 15. Either House, during its session, may punish, by imprisonment, any person not a member, who shall have been guilty of disrespect to the House, by disorderly or contemptuous behavior in its presence; but such imprisonment shall not, at any time, exceed twenty-four hours.

Sec. 16. Each House shall have all powers, necessary for a branch of the legislative department of a free and independent State.

Sec. 17. Bills may originate in either House, but may be amended or rejected in the other, except that bills for raising revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives.

Sec. 18. Every bill shall be read, by sections, on three several days, in each House; unless, in case of emergency, two-thirds of the House where such bill may be pending shall, by a vote of yeas and nays, deem it expedient to dispense with this rule; but the reading of a bill by sections, on its final passage, shall in no case, be dispensed with; and the vote on the passage of every bill or joint resolution shall be taken by yeas and nays.

Sec. 19. Every act shall embrace but one subject and matters properly connected therewith; which subject shall be expressed in the title. But if any subject shall be embraced in an act, which shall not be expressed in the title, such act shall be void only as to so much thereof as shall not be expressed in the title.

Sec. 20. Every act and joint resolution shall be plainly worded, avoiding, as far as practicable, the use of technical terms.

Sec. 21. No act shall ever be revised or amended by mere reference to its title; but the act revised, or section amended, shall be set forth and published at full length.

Sec. 22. The General Assembly shall not pass local or special laws, in any of the following enumerated cases, that is to say:

Regulating the jurisdiction and duties of Justices of the Peace and of Constables;—

For the punishment of crimes and misdemeanors;—

Regulating the practice in courts of justice;—

Providing for changing the venue in civil and criminal cases;—

Granting divorces;—

Changing the names of persons;—

For laying out, opening, and working on, highways, and for the election or appointment of supervisors;—

Vacating roads, town plats, streets, alleys, and public squares;—

Summoning and impanneling grand and petit juries, and providing for their compensation;—

Regulating county and township business;—

Regulating the election of county and township officers, and their compensation;—

For the assessment and collection of taxes for State, county, township, or road purposes;—

Providing for supporting common schools, and for the preservation of school funds;—

In relation to fees or salaries;—except that the laws may be so made as to grade the compensation of officers in proportion to the population and the necessary services required;—

In relation to interest on money;—

Providing for opening and conducting elections of State, county, or township officers, and designating the places of voting;—

Providing for the sale of real estate belonging to minors, or other persons laboring under legal disabilities, by executors, administrators, guardians, or trustees.

Sec. 23. In all the cases enumerated in the preceding section, and in all other cases where a general law can be made applicable, all laws shall be general and of uniform operation throughout the State.

Sec. 24. Provision may be made, by general law, for bringing suit against the State, as to all liabilities originating after the adoption of this Constitution; but no special act authorizing such suit to be brought, or making compensation to any person claiming damages against the State, shall ever be passed.

Sec. 25. A majority of all the members elected to each House, shall be necessary to pass every bill or joint resolution; and all bills and joint resolutions so passed, shall be signed by the Presiding Officers of the respective Houses.

Sec. 26. Any member of either House shall have the right to protest, and to have his protest, with his reasons for dissent, entered on the journal.

Sec. 27. Every statute shall be a public law, unless otherwise declared in the statute itself.

Sec. 28. No act shall take effect until the same shall have been published and circulated, in the several counties of this State, by authority, except in case of emergency; which emergency shall be declared in the preamble or in the body of the law.

Sec. 29. The members of the General Assembly shall receive, for their services a compensation to be fixed by law; but no increase of compensation shall take effect during the session at which such increase may be made. No session of the General Assembly, except the first under this Constitution, shall extend beyond the term of sixty-one days, nor any special session beyond the term of forty days.

Sec. 30. No Senator or Representative shall, during the term for which he may have been elected, be eligible to any office, the election to which is vested in the General Assembly; nor shall he be appointed to any civil office of profit, which shall have been created, or the emoluments of which shall have been increased, during such term; but this latter provision shall not be construed to apply to any office elective by the People.

ARTICLE V.

EXECUTIVE.

Section 1. The executive powers of the State shall be vested in a Governor. He shall hold his office during four years, and shall not be eligible more than four years, in any period of eight years.

Sec. 2. There shall be a Lieutenant-Governor, who shall hold his office during four years.

Sec. 3. The Governor and Lieutenant-Governor shall be elected at the times and places of choosing members of the General Assembly.

Sec. 4. In voting for Governor and Lieutenant-Governor the electors shall designate for whom they vote as Governor, and for whom as Lieutenant-Governor. The returns of every election for Governor and Lieutenant-Governor shall be sealed up and transmitted to the seat of government, directed to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, who shall open and publish them in the presence of both Houses of the General Assembly.

Sec. 5. The persons respectively, having the highest number of votes for Governor and Lieutenant-Governor, shall be elected; but in case two or more persons shall have an equal and the highest number of votes for either office, the General Assembly shall, by joint vote, forthwith proceed to elect one of the said persons Governor or Lieutenant-Governor, as the case may be.

Sec. 6. Contested elections for Governor or Lieutenant-Governor, shall be determined by the General Assembly, in such manner as may be prescribed by law.

Sec. 7. No person shall be eligible to the office of Governor or Lieutenant-Governor, who shall not have been five years a citizen of the United States, and also a resident of the State of Indiana during the five years next preceding his election; nor shall any person be eligible to either of the said offices who shall not have attained the age of thirty years.

Sec. 8. No member of Congress, or person holding any office under the United States, or under this State, shall fill the office of Governor or Lieutenant-Governor.

Sec. 9. The official term of the Governor and Lieutenant-Governor shall commence on the second Monday of January, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-three; and on the same day every fourth year thereafter.

Sec. 10. In case of the removal of the Governor from office, or of his death, resignation or inability to discharge the duties of the office, the same shall devolve on the Lieutenant-Governor; and the General Assembly shall, by law, provide for the case of removal from office, death, resignation, or inability, both of the Governor and Lieutenant-Governor, declaring what officer shall then act as Governor; and such officer shall act accordingly until the disability be removed, or a Governor be elected.

Sec. 11. Whenever the Lieutenant-Governor shall act as Governor, or shall be unable to attend as President of the Senate, the Senate shall elect one of its own members as President for the occasion.

Sec. 12. The Governor shall be commander-in-chief of the military and naval forces, and may call out such forces, to execute the laws or to suppress insurrection, or to repel invasion.

Sec. 13. He shall, from time to time, give to the General Assembly information touching the condition of the State, and recommend such measures as he shall judge to be expedient.

Sec. 14. Every bill which shall have passed the General Assembly, shall be presented to the Governor; if he approves, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to the House in which it shall have originated; which House shall enter the objections, at large, upon its journals and proceed to reconsider the bill. If, after such reconsideration, a majority of all the members elected to that House shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, with the Governor's objections, to the other House, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered; and, if approved by a majority of all the members elected to that House, it shall be a law.
